

FAINT HOPE ONLY FOR IRISH PEACE

Lloyd George Informs Craig That Sinn Fein Refuses Allegiance Oath.

FEAR END OF EFFORT

Peacemakers to Make Last Attempt at Compromise Sunday.

FAILURE SPELLS WAR

Irish Delegates Pled on England's Repugnance to Military Rule.

LONDON, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—Prime Minister Lloyd George and Sir James Craig met in the former's official residence, Downing Street, where the Imperial Premier told the head of the Northern Government that Sinn Fein Ireland had not consented to own allegiance to the King, a prerequisite to Ulster's agreement to enter an all-Ireland Parliament. It is feared this may prove to be the end of the effort to bring peace to Ireland.

The Sinn Fein delegates are consulting with members of the Dail Cabinet in Dublin on the crisis thus brought about, while Sir James packed his bag and returned to Belfast, where he will report to his Parliament next Tuesday and possibly disclose the cause of the virtual breakdown of the Irish negotiations. The official correspondence that has passed between the various delegations also may be published at the same time in London.

Week-end efforts meanwhile will be made by peacemakers in an attempt to persuade Sinn Fein to modify its attitude of refusing to swear allegiance to the King. The Dail Eireann members have taken the oath of allegiance to the Irish Republic, and thus far they have refused to substitute for it recognition within Ireland of King George.

The further concession from the Sinn Fein has been their willingness to recognize the King as the formal President of the community of two nations which Ireland might choose voluntarily to join, but even this was not definitely promised.

Situation Very Grave.

The gravity of the situation is shown by the fact that Mr. Lloyd George has abandoned his plan to spend the week-end at Bournemouth, as it is too far from London. He will go to Chequers Court instead.

Speaking at Leicester to-night, Sir Gordon Hewart, Attorney-General, declared the Irish conference was still in being, and that he would not abandon hope until the last moment. The Government was willing to go to the furthest possible limit of reasonable concession, but, he asserted, on certain vital and fundamental matters no compromise was possible. He wished to say in the firmest terms that one of these matters was allegiance to the Crown, which must in reality be interpreted in the same sense as in the dominions. There was no room here for qualification or limitation.

Lord Chancellor Birkenhead and the Attorney-General, as law officers of the crown, have ransacked the constitutions of all the British dominions to find any precedent for the only kind of relationship with the British crown that Sinn Fein will consider, but nothing can be found, and the Evening News, the first London newspaper to indicate the real cause of the crisis, suggests that the relations of Bavaria with Prussia in the

AMERICANS TO VISIT FRANCE, FAILING DRINK IN LONDON

Hotel and Restaurant Men Use Argument Before Licensing Board in Effort to Get Permission for Longer Serving Hours for Liquor.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD. Copyright, 1921, by THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau. London, Nov. 25.

Hotel and restaurant men who are trying to make London brighter are using the American thirst in their arguments before the licensing justices in asking for longer serving hours for liquor. They claim that it is a remarkable how the London controversy is being watched on the other side of the Atlantic.

"I have provisionally arranged," he said, "for some 500 business men from the United States to visit London in the spring, but their spokesman makes it a condition that during their stay here they must be able to enjoy wine if required with every meal until midnight."

He said that in view of the recent decisions stopping the selling at 10 o'clock he feared he could not guarantee his prospective clients what they asked and added: "I am in no way interested in drink, but this visit would mean a lot of money for London and probably a considerable volume of orders. I am afraid the business men will go to France instead."

CRITICAL POINT REACHED IN IRISH NEGOTIATIONS

Full Meeting of Dail Eireann Considers Proposals.

DUBLIN, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—Opinion here to-night is that a critical point in the Irish negotiations has been reached. A full meeting of the Dail Eireann Ministry, with De Valera presiding, was held this afternoon, but no statement was issued beyond formal notice that the situation is considered too delicate for public statements.

Arthur Griffith of the Sinn Fein peace delegation will carry with him when he leaves for London to-night the decision of the Dail Eireann Ministry. His hurried visit was taken to indicate that new proposals had been submitted by the British Government which necessitated an authoritative answer on behalf of the Dail Eireann.

The Irish Bulletin, reverting to the text of the alleged secret circular issued from divisional commissioners of the Royal Irish Constabulary at Belfast, and dealing with the formation of unauthorized loyalist defense forces, says that "until the British Government has rehabilitated itself by proof that it took no action in this hideous scheme of arming fanatics and calling them regulars, its good faith will remain suspected and its professions of anxiety for peace will be received in Ireland coldly."

BOMB FOR LITHUANIAN FINANCE MINISTER

Vilna Settlement Is Believed Cause of Attempt.

KOVNO, Lithuania, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—Minister of Finance Galvanuskas was seriously wounded to-day by the explosion of a bomb which was thrown through a window of his residence. The Minister's house and other buildings adjoining were seriously damaged. The concussion shook the American consulate. The attempted assassination is believed to have been the outgrowth of the high feeling existing in Lithuania over the Government's proposed acceptance of the latest plan of the League of Nations for settling the dispute over Vilna.

HUMAN TEETH FOUND IN BLUEBEARD VILLA

Dentist Impresses Jury by Declaring 29 Produced Are Probably Women's.

VERDICT LIKELY TUESDAY

Prosecution Closes Case; Defense Witnesses Are Few—Defendant Is Pale.

VERSAILLES, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—The jurors sitting in the case of Henri Landru, "the Bluebeard of Gambais," to-day were impressed by testimony given by Dr. Sauvez, a prominent dentist, who was called to the stand by the prosecution as one of its trump cards.

"The twenty-nine teeth I have here are indisputably human teeth," said Dr. Sauvez, referring to teeth found among the refuse in Landru's villa at Gambais, where the prisoner is alleged to have killed some of the eleven persons for whose deaths he is on trial.

The loose teeth, some of which were virtually intact, although some showed traces of contact with fire, were handed from juror to juror for examination, with the dental expert repeating time and again that there was no doubt they once had belonged to human beings. The testimony made a great impression on the jury.

The prosecution closed its case. During the trial the prosecution has occupied sixteen sessions to present its case. The witnesses for the defense took up barely two hours. Two attorneys who are looking after the interests of the heirs of two of the alleged victims of Landru will sum up to-morrow. Prosecutor Godefroy will address the jury Monday and M. Morogiasferri, on behalf of the defense, will make his pleading Tuesday. It is probable that a verdict will be arrived at late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Landru appeared extremely weak to-day after his ordeal of examination yesterday. He appeared pale and careworn as he entered the dock, but he saluted the jury as jauntily as ever.

WALES SEES GAEKWAR AND HIS FAMOUS GEMS

In Jewelled Carriage Passes Gold Laden Elephants.

HARODA, India, Nov. 25 (Associated Press).—The Prince of Wales is experiencing his first taste of the opulence and splendor of Indian princes as the guest of the Gaekwar of Baroda, one of the most powerful native rulers whose yearly income is placed at many millions of dollars. The Gaekwar's son, Prince Jasraj, was educated at Harvard, where his allowance was so great as to make him a sort of mysterious Monte Cristo.

When the Prince's train drew up at the station awaiting him was the Gaekwar himself, with his shining retinue. The Prince was driven in a barouche scintillating with gold and jewels through the elaborately decorated streets crowded with cheering thousands. It was a most imposing procession. At one point were arranged the battery of famous gold and silver guns with silver carriages and richly caparisoned horses, together with six colossal elephants bearing silver and gilded thrones, each one of which represented a fortune. At the palace the Prince was shown the crown jewels and saw displayed the glittering mass of gems of incalculable value.

RUSSIAN FAMILIES GET FOOD SENT BY FRIENDS

Package From United States Delivered in Three Weeks.

GROWTHS of Russia who since the famine have been compelled to forage for their own sustenance while their children were being nourished by the American Relief Administration have begun to get food from this country, according to advices received yesterday at the headquarters of the administration, 43 Broadway.

A cable from Col. William N. Haskell, director of the Russian relief at Moscow, told of the delivery of 1,400 food remittances sent to families in the famine area by friends and relatives in this country. They are the first such deliveries to be made from America.

"The consignees were overjoyed and astounded," Col. Haskell's cablegram said, "to actually receive packages containing American flour, cooking fat, sugar, rice, condensed milk and tea. The average time of delivery to recipients in Russia has been three weeks."
